Mrs. Allan White.
Organ Postlude—"Fugue" Bach
Mr. A. B. Ingalls.

All was well rendered, but special mention must be made of the soloists, Miss Delia E. Griswold, Mrs. Allan White and Mr. H. F. Wichman with the latter's violin and piano-forte accompanists, Mr. Paul Egry and Miss Caroline Castle. Also of the accompaniments and masterly solo organ work of Prof. A. B. Ingalls throughout the day.

Found an Intruder.

George Robinson, the night watchman on Nuuanu street, detected a suspicious character at an early hour prowling about the building occupied by Lovejoy & Co. He followed the man upstairs and saw him enter one of the upstairs storerooms by a window which opened on the rear balcony. Robinson went to the police station and found Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth. The two went back to the building, and cautiously entered the room by the same window. By means of a hand electric light, the intruder's coat was found lying near the window, and the owner was quickly discovered hiding in a corner with his hat pulled down over his face. He was taken in charge by the deputy sheriff, who booked him at the station for investigation. He was a white man. His case will come up in police court this morning.

Watch Night Service.

The Watch Night service at the Central Union tonight will be opened by an organ recital, Prof. A. B. Ingalls being the soloist. His selections will be made from the following list:
"March of the Priests" (Athalie) Mendelssohn
"The Lost Chord" Sullivan
"Nocturne" (Op. 9, No. 2) Chopin
"Nocturne" (Op. 37, No. 1) Chopin

Moonlight concerts will be given by the Territorial band on Wednesday evening at Maake Island, Waikiki, and at Thomas Square, Thursday evening.

Mr. W. G. Ogg of Waikiki entertained his friends on Christmas Day by giving a luncheon on the beach, below Waikiki. It was largely attended and proved quite enjoyable.—Maui News.

Sixty-eight Italians arrived at Kahului for the Spreckelsville plantation last week. They are stalwart fellows, and will prove a very acceptable addition to the working force of the plantation.
